Ashland reports equity inducement award for new Valvoline chief financial officer

June 20, 2016

COVINGTON, Ky. - Ashland Inc. (NYSE: ASH) today reported, as required by New York Stock Exchange rules, that an equity inducement award has been made to Mary Meixelsperger, who today joined Ashland's wholly owned subsidiary, Valvoline Inc. as chief financial officer.

As an inducement for employment, and as previously disclosed by Ashland in a Form 8-K filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Meixelsperger received a one-time grant of time-vested restricted stock in the amount of 4,500 shares on June 20, 2016. The grant was made outside of the company's current equity plan - the Amended and Restated 2015 Ashland Inc. Incentive Plan. In the event Meixelsperger's employment terminates for any reason, all awarded shares that have not become vested by such date will be automatically forfeited by Meixelsperger and canceled. However, if Ashland's previously announced plan to separate its Valvoline business segment from its Ashland Specialty Ingredients and Ashland Performance Materials business segments, thereby creating two independent, publicly traded companies, is not completed by the 18-month anniversary of the commencement of Meixelsperger's employment and she voluntarily terminates her employment within the 60-day period thereafter, Meixelsperger will be entitled to receive a cash payment equal to (1) the fair market value of Ashland common stock as of the grant date of her restricted stock award multiplied by (2) the number of shares of restricted stock that are forfeited in accordance with the immediately preceding sentence. The award, as well as any shares that become vested under the award, will be subject to the requirements of Ashland's stock ownership guidelines.

Forward-Looking Statements

This news release contains forward-looking statements. Ashland has identified some of these forward-looking statements with words such as "anticipates," "believes," "expects," "estimates," "is likely," "predicts," "projects," "forecasts," "objectives," "may," "will," "should," "plans" and "intends" and the negative of these words or other comparable terminology. These forward-looking statements include statements relating to status of the separation process, the plan to pursue an IPO of up to 20 percent of the common stock of Valvoline and the expected completion of the separation through the subsequent distribution of Valvoline common stock, the anticipated timing of completion of the planned IPO and subsequent distribution of the remaining Valvoline common stock, the plan to reorganize under a new public holding company to be called Ashland Global Holdings Inc. and Ashland's and Valvoline's ability to pursue their long-term strategies. In addition, Ashland may from time to time make forward-looking statements in its annual report, quarterly reports and other filings with the SEC, news releases and other written and oral communications. These forward-looking statements are based on Ashland's expectations and assumptions, as of the date such statements are made, regarding Ashland's future operating performance and financial condition, including the proposed separation of its specialty chemicals and Valvoline businesses, the proposed IPO of its Valvoline business, the expected timetable for completing the IPO and the separation, the proposal to reorganize under a new holding company, the future financial and operating performance of each company, strategic and competitive advantages of each company, the leadership of each company, and future opportunities for each company, as well as the economy and other future events or circumstances. Ashland's expectations and assumptions include, without limitation, internal forecasts and analyses of current and future market conditions and trends, management plans and strategies, operating efficiencies and economic conditions (such as prices, supply and demand, cost of raw materials, and the ability to recover raw-material cost increases through price increases), and risks and uncertainties associated with the following: the possibility that the proposed IPO, new holding company reorganization or separation will not be consummated within the anticipated time period or at all, including as the result of regulatory, market or other factors or the failure to obtain shareholder approval of the new holding company reorganization; the potential for disruption to Ashland's business in connection with the proposed IPO, new holding company reorganization or separation; the potential that the new Ashland and Valvoline do not realize all of the expected benefits of the proposed IPO, new holding company reorganization or separation or obtain the expected credit ratings following the proposed IPO, new holding company reorganization or separation; Ashland's substantial indebtedness (including the possibility that such indebtedness and related restrictive covenants may adversely affect Ashland's future cash flows, results of operations, financial condition and its ability to repay debt); the impact of acquisitions and/or divestitures Ashland has made or may make (including the possibility that Ashland may not realize the anticipated benefits from such transactions); severe weather, natural disasters, and legal proceedings and claims (including environmental and asbestos matters). Various risks and uncertainties may cause actual results to differ materially from those stated, projected or implied by any forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, risks and uncertainties affecting Ashland that are described in its most recent Form 10-K and its Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended March 31, 2016 (including Item 1A Risk Factors) filed with the SEC, which is available on Ashland's website at <http://investor.ashland.com> or on the SEC's website at <http://www.sec.gov>. Ashland believes its expectations and assumptions are reasonable, but there can be no assurance that the expectations reflected herein will be achieved. Unless legally required, Ashland undertakes no obligation to update any forward-looking statements made in this news release whether as a result of new information, future event or otherwise.

Non-solicitation

A registration statement relating to the securities of Ashland Global Holdings Inc. has been filed with the SEC but has not yet become effective.
